

Perfect 👍 — that clarification helps a lot.

Since this section is about future priorities, and you now want to emphasize AI research (speech/text), certification goals, leadership growth, and smart use of AT&T's internal AI tools, I've rewritten it in a clean, professional, and AT&T-aligned way.

You can copy-paste this directly into Workday as your final response under "Aligning Going Forward."

Aligning Going Forward – Key Priorities (2025–2026)

In the next performance cycle, my focus will be on expanding my technical and leadership capabilities while contributing to innovation within AT&T's Data & AI ecosystem. My key priorities include:

AI & Research Innovation:

Explore new research areas in text and speech analytics, focusing on innovative AI-driven techniques that can enhance fraud detection, automation, and customer-experience insights.

Professional Learning & Certification:

Pursue AT&T-recognized certifications in Data Science and Artificial Intelligence to deepen my expertise and align with the company's strategic technology roadmap.

Leadership & Career Growth:

Strengthen leadership qualities, adopt cross-functional collaboration skills, and work toward taking on broader responsibilities to move to the next professional level.

Operational Efficiency & Tool Utilization:

Maximize the use of internal tools such as Co-Pilot, Ask AT&T, and other AI-based enablers to improve productivity, accelerate experimentation, and deliver faster, data-driven results.

Continuous Improvement & Solution Mindset:

Focus on simplifying processes, identifying immediate solutions to business challenges, and integrating intelligent automation wherever possible to optimize performance.

Short Summary (for compact entry in Workday):

> My priorities for the next cycle are to explore innovative AI research in text and speech analytics, pursue AT&T Data & AI certifications, develop leadership qualities to progress to the next level, and maximize the use of tools like Co-Pilot and Ask AT&T for smarter, faster, and more efficient solution delivery.

Would you like me to make it one very short paragraph (4–5 lines) version — the kind usually used when Workday limits text length?
